

Board-Certified Dermatologist Ryan Freeland, MD, FAAD, at Wolverine Dermatology in Wyoming, Michigan

A 16-Year Air Force Veteran with Extensive Medical Experience

New York City, New York Jun 27, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - With a strong background in medical service and an unwavering commitment to excellence, Dr. Freeland brings a wealth of experience and expertise to his practice at Wolverine Dermatology in Wyoming, Michigan.

A native of Portage, Michigan, he embarked on his medical journey by earning a Bachelor of Science degree from Wheaton College in Wheaton, Illinois. His educational pursuits further led him to Loyola University Chicago's Stritch School of Medicine, where he obtained his medical degree and honed his passion for dermatology.

Recognized as a Fellow of the American Academy of Dermatology (FAAD), Dr. Freeland's professional career took a remarkable turn when he joined the United States Air Force, serving the nation for 16 years. During his tenure, he held various roles, including a six-year term as a flight surgeon and a residency training at Wilford Hall Ambulatory Surgical Center and Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio. His extensive military service took him to different locations across Florida, Germany, Texas, and Washington, DC, where he made significant contributions to military healthcare.

Notably, Dr. Freeland's dedication to medical excellence led him to teaching positions at prestigious institutions such as the dermatology residency program at Walter Reed Medical Center and the military medical school in Bethesda, Maryland. His invaluable expertise and commitment to education have made a lasting impact on the medical community.

With a passion for medical and surgical dermatology, as well as pediatric dermatology, Dr. Freeland offers comprehensive care and cutting-edge treatments to his patients at Wolverine Dermatology. Beyond his professional endeavors, he finds joy in running, traveling, SCUBA diving, and cheering for his favorite college football teams.
