The elusive balance between modern style and durability in a sports watch

Los Angeles, California Jun 12, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - If you closely follow men's fashion and trends, you may have realized that men are interested in independent Swiss watch brands and new design concepts.

For men in general, watches have all their places in their important dress code. Because a watch is much more than just an accessory, it generally says a lot about the personality and appearance that a man wants to give or display. Let's discover another brand of men's watches with the Swiss chronograph watches FORCE. A reasonably recent brand has taken the bold gamble of combining luxury and sporty watches. For a relatively successful result, we will detail you in this article.

Wryst watches when luxury and elegance meet sport

Wryst is, above all, the meeting and sharing between two kinds of usually distinct watches: luxury and sport. Imagined in the mind of Swiss watch designer Jacques Fournier for more than three years, this concept brilliantly combines certain luxury design features in a sporty set.

To go further and offer products even better able to stand out from specific competitors, the Swiss watch brand has also tried to make its creations at the most affordable prices, despite cutting-edge manufacturing techniques. From then on, Wryst's biggest challenge was perfectly realized: offering luxury and sporty watches while making them as affordable as possible.

All Wryst watches benefit from the highest standards of watchmaking traditions. They combine several ultra-modern production techniques in cooperation with the unrivaled know-how of renowned craftsmen. A high-quality approach and limited edition production method enabled the brand to win the world-renowned Swiss movement origin. The authenticity guarantee certifies each watch movement as a product originating in Switzerland.

As a result, all watches incorporate the most innovative and durable materials possible, including unprecedented strength attributes. In several models, we find superior materials such as high-quality stainless steel 516L or even amorphous carbon DLC (Diamond-Like Carbon) coatings, which ensure a watch without the slightest trace of wear and scratches over the years. Forgetting that each case benefits at the same time from an innovative design, with a unique bracelet fixing system with four screws, all with a reinforced level of safety.

The Wryst Force collection, attractive with its leather bracelets

A symbol of a wide variety of men's watches, Wryst features a range of "timepieces" called Wryst chronograph watches Force. It's the one we fell in love with. The lines and shapes are directly inspired by extreme sports and the forces of nature! This Wryst Force model is also fascinating since all the watches are customizable. A silicone strap and another leather strap are included, which you can choose and reverse as you wish.

It is a detail that makes the difference since we can change the strap whenever we want, with leather for a chic atmosphere or silicone for a sporty side perfectly assumed. There are, therefore, several colors in this collection, including these four models, which blend very well with the spirit and appearance of the modern man.
