

Thomas Reda, MD, Revolutionizing Healthcare with Direct Primary Care Model

Trusted Family Physician Offers Personalized and Affordable Care in Carmichael, California

New York City, New York Jul 3, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Thomas Reda, MD, a board-certified family physician, is changing the landscape of healthcare in Carmichael, California, with his innovative subscription-based medical practice. Known as direct primary care, a model akin to concierge medicine, his practice model is dedicated to providing comprehensive and personalized primary care services to individuals of all ages.

Unlike traditional practices that rely on insurance billing, Dr. Reda charges his patients a nominal monthly membership fee. In return, his patients receive extended visits, same- or next-day appointments, after-hours access directly to him, and unhurried, relaxed visits that today's corporate medicine has made virtually impossible. The monthly fee covers as many visits as the patient's health requires, either in person at his office or through convenient telehealth consultations.

By eliminating the hassle of insurance paperwork and pre-approvals, Dr. Reda ensures that his patients receive timely and high-quality care without financial barriers. With a commitment to accessibility and convenience, he prioritizes seeing his patients when they need him, not directing them to ERs or urgent care clinics. By proactively addressing health concerns and providing preventive care, Dr. Reda aims to keep his patients as healthy as possible so they remain out of the hospital.

A distinguished alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania and the Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University, Dr. Reda completed his residency in family medicine at Chestnut Hill Hospital in Philadelphia. He is board certified by the American Board of Family Medicine and is recognized as a Diplomate, showcasing his expertise and commitment to delivering high-quality healthcare services.

Recognizing the unique challenges faced by seniors in navigating today's complex healthcare system, Dr. Reda offers personalized care plans tailored to meet their specific needs. He goes above and beyond by visiting patients in assisted living facilities or providing home visits when necessary, ensuring continuity of care and peace of mind for his elderly patients.

For individuals seeking a more personalized and affordable approach to healthcare in Carmichael, Thomas Reda, MD, offers a transformative solution through his direct primary care practice. Experience the difference that compassionate and patient-centered care can make in your health journey.
