Los Angeles, California Sep 16, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Ventura & Associates HTA Advisors, a California-based strategy consulting and tech-enabled solutions firm, today announced its strategic decision to accelerate the development of its next tech-enabled solution, Forkpath. Forkpath is an advanced statistical and probability tool designed to help established companies with commercial products, wholesalers, and distributors around the world make better data-driven decisions. By leveraging the power of multiple regression-based forecasting methods, Forkpath can help businesses improve their sales forecasting accuracy, leading to increased revenue and reduced costs.

"We are thrilled with the overwhelming response we've received since announcing correlo," said Ventura, CEO & Founder, "The previous announcement has generated significant excitement, and we're on track to achieve key milestones ahead of schedule. This early traction positions the company for a successful launch and widespread adoption. To capitalize on this momentum, we're excited to introduce Forkpath, a truly cutting-edge solution that will empower businesses to stay ahead of the curve."

Following the successful launch of Forkpath, Ventura & Associates HTA Advisors is currently in discussions with several potential investors who share our vision for its impact. The company is also committed to exploring strategic partnerships to further enhance Forkpath's functionalities.
