

Fadi Dinha: The Comedian Finding His Voice Across Three Languages

Sweden's breakout star is using stand-up, Twitch, skits and podcasting to spread his comedy across mediums and borders.

Los Angeles, California Dec 2, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Raised in Sweden to an Assyrian family, Fadi Dinha didn't always know that comedy was his calling. "I wanted to be an actor at first," he admits. "But once I started making videos and writing jokes, I realized that I loved comedy more." Now, with a growing fanbase of over 600,000 people, Dinha has found his comedic stride—an impressive feat considering the non-existent comedy scene in Gothenburg, where he grew up.

"Comedy in Sweden, especially in Gothenburg, wasn't really a thing. I was embarrassed to tell people what I was doing because it was so different from what my family and community expected," Dinha says. But with influences like Family Guy, Dave Chappelle, and Tim Dillon, his humor eventually found an audience.

Dinha's comedy isn't limited by language either. "Privately I crack jokes in Swedish, English, and Chaldean," he says. "Each language has its own timing and rhythm, but on the stage, it's all English and that affects the way I perform." It's this multicultural approach that helps Dinha's humor stand out on a global scale, allowing him to connect with a wide range of fans across different platforms.

Now, as he prepares to take on a leading role in the online comedy series Choice Dude, Dinha is excited about what the future holds. "Ultimately, I want to go on tour, sell out theaters, and influence pop culture through comedy."

As of this interview, Fadi has in fact put together his first European tour, seeing 7 major cities in just 2 weeks. Needless to say, he's not all talk.

Dinha's multilingual comedy blends Chaldean directness with English humor and Swedish irony, making him a force to be reckoned with. His comedic range has been described as "impressive" by critics, who note that he "effortlessly navigates complex cultural topics with humor that translates universally." His podcast, The Fadi Show, has been praised for its rawness and depth. "Dinha is more than just a comic—he's a storyteller who uses his unique background to give his comedy real bite."
