

APJCC Preschool: A New Horizon in Early Childhood Education in Los Gatos

APJCC Preschool on Oka Road in Los Gatos is committed to providing quality education and care to children. The preschool for toddlers in Los Gatos welcomes children from different backgrounds.

Los Gatos, California Jan 15, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - APJCC Preschool on Oka Road in Los Gatos is committed to providing quality education and care to children. The preschool for toddlers in Los Gatos welcomes children from different backgrounds. The teachers are devoted to supporting each child and providing them with a solid foundation for a lifetime of learning. APJCC Preschool uses play to teach important skills. Children learn to share, take turns, and express themselves. These early social skills help them make friends and feel confident. Parents are part of the playschool community. Regular updates, family events, and volunteer opportunities bring everyone together. To learn more about the playschool program, please visit - apjccpreschool.org

At APJCC Preschool, children learn through play. Children explore through art, music, nature, and games. Teachers encourage curiosity and creativity every day. They focus on play-based learning and also include specific teaching methods. The teachers at the playschool for toddlers in Los Gatos are kind and patient. They understand what young children need. Each child gets attention and care to feel safe and supported. They discover new things, solve problems, and work together. This helps them grow strong minds and happy hearts. Additionally, kids can take advantage of the extracurricular enrichment programs that focus on movement, music, languages, and more.

APJCC Preschool staff leads with experience and heart. More than half of the educators have been supporting children's development for a decade or more. The staff participates in ongoing professional development, refining their understanding and knowledge through learning and mentorship. APJCC welcomes families and faculty of any faith or background. The curriculum is rooted in rich Jewish culture and values, which promote kindness for the whole community, and inclusivity. These values do not stop at the preschool door; the entire APJCC community is inclusive to all abilities throughout campus. They are dedicated to navigating children's growth and development. The preschool program offers a best-in-class curriculum for early childhood education in Los Gatos that is robust.

At this crucial stage, children are just starting to discover their passions and interests. The preschool program at APJCC is designed to nurture your child's creativity through playful learning experiences. They follow a hands-on approach when it comes to educating and helping children develop. The preschool for toddlers in Los Gatos helps your child develop independence, responsibility, sociability, self-esteem, awareness as well as fine and gross motor development. The program strives to provide children with the tools necessary to become confident individuals.

About APJCC Preschool

APJCC Preschool offers age-specific classes to children ensuring that they receive the needed developmental support. The preschool's supportive environment gives each child the foundation to learn individually as well as a whole group. They ensure a low student to teacher ratio which gives each child one on one work time with the educators. The preschool for toddlers in Los Gatos has many different activity centers which include the art center, playhouse, and a library.

Media Contact

APJCC Preschool

@jvalley.org

+1 408-357-7417

14855 Oka Road, Suite 201, Los Gatos, CA 95032

Source : APJCC Preschool

See on IssueWire