

Leading art advisor, Ty Murphy LLM Launches Essential Guide to Training Household Staff to Care for Art and Antiques

Ty Murphy's book is the Latest Addition to "The Art Market Expert Series" Equips Trainers and Household Management with Tools to Protect Valuable Art Collections

London, United Kingdom Jan 7, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Internationally renowned art advisor and author Ty Murphy has unveiled his newest book, Training Household Staff to Care for Fine Art and Antiques. This innovative manual focuses on an often-overlooked area: equipping household staff with the skills necessary to clean and maintain fine art and antiques effectively.

Aimed at estate planners, art professionals, household management professionals, and staff trainers, the book provides practical guidance for safeguarding high-value collections. It includes detailed techniques for cleaning and preserving items in situ, with an emphasis on preventing damage to fragile materials. Additionally, the book offers a complete course outline and accompanying slide deck designed to assist trainers in delivering effective staff education programs.

The book also addresses the multifaceted responsibilities of household staff, emphasizing the crucial role they play in maintaining, protecting, and preserving both the financial and sentimental value of fine art and antiques. The book is meticulously structured, covering foundational topics such as the importance of understanding the financial, historical, and cultural significance of art pieces and offering practical insights into handling, cleaning, and maintaining these items. Readers will gain expertise in techniques for safeguarding various mediums, including paintings, sculptures, textiles, and antique furniture. Murphy's work also delves into preventive measures and risk management, including disaster preparedness, proper storage techniques, and inventory documentation.

"This book addresses a critical need in the market," said Murphy. "Fine art and antiques often require specialized care, and improper handling can result in irreversible damage. By providing both a comprehensive guide and training materials, this book empowers trainers and household managers to ensure staff are well-prepared to handle these responsibilities."

Key features of Training Household Staff to Care for Fine Art and Antiques include:

Techniques for cleaning and maintaining fine art and antiques safely and effectively.

Guidance on handling delicate mosaics, such as addressing detached tesserae.

Strategies for mitigating environmental risks to collections.

A practical course outline and slide deck to aid trainers in educating household staff.

About Ty Murphy:

Ty Murphy is a distinguished expert in art law, due diligence, and blue-chip art advisory. His educational background includes an LLB and LLM from BPP University, studies in art and life drawing at the Royal West of England Academy (RWA), and writing training at Caerleon University. This multidisciplinary expertise informs his ability to bridge the gap between art preservation and professional training.

As a trusted advisor to ultra-high-net-worth individuals (UHNWI) and family offices, Murphy provides guidance on authentication, acquisitions, and the management of high-value collections. His Art Market Expert Series continues to set the standard for resources in the art world.

About the Art Market Expert Series:

The Art Market Expert Series by Ty Murphy includes widely acclaimed titles such as The Art Market: A Guide for the Professional and Collector. With each installment, Murphy addresses key aspects of the art market, from legal and financial issues to the care of fine art and antiques. This series has become an indispensable resource for collectors, estate planners, and art professionals.

The Book is available on all major outlets, Amazon Books, <https://www.amazon.co.uk/Training-Household-Antiques-market-Expert/dp/B0DNW4RT48>

For further information, media inquiries, or to request a review copy of Training Household Staff to Care for Fine Art and Antiques, please contact: Toni Muricu by e-mail: info@domos.uk Tel +44(0)7719370000

About This Book

Training Household Staff to Care for Fine Art and Antiques is an essential resource for high-net-worth households, estate planners, and agencies dedicated to protecting the integrity and value of fine art and antique collections. Authored by Ty Murphy, a seasoned art adviser and collection manager, this guide equips household staff with the skills required for handling, cleaning, documenting, and preserving valuable art and antiques. Murphy draws on years of experience advising and managing households for ultra-high-net-worth individuals and Family Offices, bringing practical expertise to every page.

The book offers step-by-step guidance on essential topics, from foundational handling techniques and environmental control to structural repairs, conservation, security, and legal compliance. Ty Murphy provides practical and valuable advice on a wide range of topics and examples, ensuring the household staff are confident and prepared to address the most common and significant issues. The book addresses the features and specific requirements for high-value artworks and significant items, adapting professional conservation methods to household settings.

The book includes practical document templates—such as condition reports, inventory lists, preservation records, and loan agreements—that help staff maintain thorough records and support professional communication with external experts. Additionally, it features ready-to-use training materials designed to enhance staff members' understanding, retention, and skills in handling, hands-on training, Training Household Staff to Care for Fine Art and Antiques is a vital addition to any estate planner or professional collection, ensuring the collection is cared for with precision, respect, and expertise.

Ty Murphy is an accomplished art adviser to high-net-worth individuals and family offices. His art practice includes Life Drawing in the Royal Warrant studios of England, DRC, and Writing in Capital, Economy. Although he holds an MSc and LL.M. from the University of Law, Ty is a sought-after keynote speaker and writer, as well as a committee member for the Arts and Heritage Council. Ty specializes in the advisory to the art market, including compliance and guidance through the sales process or market.

Household staff gain the step-by-step guidance on the best practices and expert techniques on display here for professional conservation and collection management.

© 2024 Ty Murphy LLC
General Inquiries: ty@tylll.com
General Inquiries: ty@tylll.com

TRAINING HOUSEHOLD STAFF TO CARE FOR FINE ART AND ANTIQUES

TRAINING HOUSEHOLD STAFF TO CARE FOR FINE ART AND ANTIQUES

THE ART MARKET
EXPERT SERIES

Ty Murphy LLB LLM

Media Contact

DOMOS Art Advisors

@domos.uk

07719370000

Source : DOMOS Art Advisors

See on IssueWire