

O'Neill Fernandes Announces Final Album "Last Dance"

Available On SoundCloud On 20th Jan 2025

Perth, Western Australia Jan 19, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Renowned musician O'Neill Fernandes is set to release his final album, "Last Dance," marking the culmination of his illustrious musical journey. This album, a collection of specially selected love ballads, takes listeners on a nostalgic journey through the years from 1968 to 2024.

From 2016 to 2025, O'Neill Fernandes has recorded and produced an impressive 1,117 songs across 51 albums. As he embarks on a new chapter in his life, he expresses his heartfelt gratitude to his fans and supporters who have been instrumental in achieving this remarkable milestone. “My music is a gift to humanity,” says O’Neill.

“Last Dance” features timeless classics such as:

- “Those Were the Days” – Originally composed by Boris Fomin and famously covered by Mary Hopkin in 1968.
- “Push the Button” – A hit by the English girl group Sugababes from their 2005 album “Taller in More Ways.”
- “Everywhere” – A beloved track by Fleetwood Mac from their 1987 album “Tango in the Night.”
- “Ugly Heart” – The second single by G.R.L. from their self-titled EP, released in 2014.
- “Make It with You” – A classic by Bread, written by David Gates and released in 1970.
- “Some Broken Hearts Never Mend” – A 1977 hit by Don Williams, written by Wayland Holyfield.
- “Redneck Girl” – A 1982 single by The Bellamy Brothers, written by David Bellamy.
- “Beautiful Things” – A 2024 release by Benson Boone from his debut album “Fireworks & Rollerblades.”
- “Love Yourself” – A 2015 hit by Justin Bieber from his album “Purpose.”
- “Calm Down” – A 2022 track by Rema, featuring a remix with Selena Gomez.
- “Lay Back in the Arms of Someone” – A 1977 song by Smokie, co-written by Nicky Chinn and Mike Chapman.
- “50 Ways to Say Goodbye” – A 2012 single by Train from their album “California 37.”
- “Sara” – A 1979 song by Stevie Nicks of Fleetwood Mac from the album “Tusk.”
- “Yellow” – A 2000 hit by Coldplay from their debut album “Parachutes.”
- “Baby Can I Hold You” – A 1988 single by Tracy Chapman.
- “Little Lies” – Another classic by Fleetwood Mac from their 1987 album “Tango in the Night.”
- “How Can I Tell Her” – A 1973 song by Lobo from his album “Calumet.”
- “Aubrey” – A 1972 track by Bread, written by David Gates.
- “Lost in Love” – A 1979 song by Air Supply from their album “Life Support.”
- “Last Dance” – The iconic 1978 song by Donna Summer from the “Thank God It’s Friday” soundtrack

“Every chord I strike is a call to the heart’s deepest desires, a reminder that in the rhythm of life, we find the courage to dance through the darkness and into the light,” says Fernandes.

“Last Dance” will be available on SoundCloud on January 20, 2025. Enjoy this final musical gift from O’Neill Fernandes.

SoundCloud Album Link:

https://soundcloud.com/oneill-fernandes/sets/last-dance/s-EDgAH0cQpUa?si=56cbbde0ae13425fadd707b2f02bcc56&utm\_source=clipboard&utm\_medium=text&utm\_campaign=social\_sharing

Media Contact

O'Neill Fernandes

*****@bigpond.com

Bibra Lake Australia

Source : O'Neill fernandes

See on IssueWire