

P-Stubbz801 Drops Powerful New Single "Spill It Out" Produced by Cabo Beats

Midvale, Utah Jan 31, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - Up and coming hip-hop artist P-Stubbz801 is back with his latest single, Spill It Out, This SDBG Studios Exclusive Single takes a bold stance on societal bias, workplace discrimination, and the struggles of masculinity being perceived as a threat in today's world.

Spill It Out is a raw and unapologetic narrative about his personal experience of being transferred or let go from a job near his home due to corporate biases labeling him as a threat. The song delves deep into the way society misjudges masculinity, how corporate structures evade accountability by shifting blame, and the alienation he has faced in the workforce for simply being himself. Through intense lyricism and gripping beats, He exposes the contradictions of a system that talks about fairness but rarely walks the walk. It's all about speaking up—and then getting pushed away for doing so.

“I was labeled as the ‘bad guy’ not because of my actions, but because it was easier for them to cover up the truth, This single is about breaking free from the false narratives forced onto us and standing firm in who we are,” says P-Stubbz801.

Produced by Cabo Beats, Spill It Out delivers hard-hitting production with an emotional weight that amplifies the song's message. The track is a wake-up call to those who have ever felt misrepresented, alienated, or forced to conform to unrealistic expectations. It serves as motivation for those who have had enough of all the setbacks and are ready to stand up for themselves.

He continues to make waves in the music industry, turning his real-life struggles into powerful storytelling that resonates with audiences across the globe. His fearless approach to tackling deep social issues in his music sets him apart as an artist willing to speak the truth, no matter the consequences.
