

Cellarhouse: First UK Band to Embrace AI Vocalist on New Album "Travelogue"

Norwich, Norfolk Feb 21, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - UK-based electronic band Cellarhouse is set to release their groundbreaking album "Travelogue" on February 21st, marking a pivotal moment in music history. "Travelogue" is the first release from a UK band and label, True Blockhouse, to feature an AI vocalist, named A.I.LEEN, as a permanent member, replacing their previous human lead vocalist and ushering in a new era of musical innovation.

Faced with the departure of their vocalist and struggling to find a suitable replacement through traditional auditions, Cellarhouse made the audacious decision to train an AI model to sing and interpret their lyrics in their signature down-tempo, dark electronica style. This bold move has not only solved a practical problem but also opened up a world of creative possibilities.

"Travelogue" explores themes of exploration, identity, and the human condition through the unique lens of artificial intelligence. A.I.LEEN's vocals, seamlessly integrated into Cellarhouse's sound, add a layer of intrigue and emotional depth, challenging listeners to reconsider the boundaries of music and technology.

"We weren't looking for a replacement; we were looking for a partner, a tool to help us realize our vision," says PJ from Cellarhouse. "A.I.LEEN has been invaluable to us. The possibilities are endless, and we're excited to see where this journey takes us."

"Travelogue" is released on True Blockhouse, a boutique label dedicated to pushing the boundaries of avant-garde electronic music. Founder Jezz Wright, a veteran of the legendary Blockhouse Recording Studio, sees AI as a powerful tool for artists. "AI is simply the next step in music evolution," says Wright. "It's about augmentation, about expanding possibilities, not replacing human artistry."

Listeners can hear a snippet of A.I.LEEN's original, and frankly hilarious, proto-language (a mix of "Klingon, old English, and dial-up modem noises") on the album's opening track, "You're Making No Sense," a testament to the band's playful spirit and commitment to experimentation.

Key Highlights:

- First UK band to replace human vocalist with AI model.
- "Travelogue" explores themes of exploration, identity, and the human condition through an AI lens.
- Seamless integration of AI vocals into Cellarhouse's signature sound.
- Released on True Blockhouse, a boutique label dedicated to pushing the boundaries of electronic music.
- Listen to a snippet of A.I.LEEN's experimental language on "You're Making No Sense".

About Cellarhouse:

Cellarhouse is a UK-based electronic band known for their down-tempo, dark electronica soundscapes. They consist of PJ, Manual, Fahia and A.I.LEEN. With "Travelogue," they are pushing the boundaries of music and technology, exploring new creative possibilities and redefining the role of the vocalist in the 21st century. Find out more at www.cellarhouse.co.uk.

About True Blockhouse:

True Blockhouse is a not-for-profit boutique record label dedicated to supporting avant-garde electronic music and innovative artists. Founded by Jezz Wright, True Blockhouse is committed to pushing the boundaries of sound and technology. For more information, visit www.trueblockhouse.com.

Links:

- True Blockhouse: www.trueblockhouse.com
- Cellarhouse: www.cellarhouse.co.uk
- YouTube: <https://www.youtube.com/trueblockhouse>

Cellarhouse's album Travelogue is released across all music streaming and download platforms from February 21st through Cygnus Music

(Limited vinyl release through PolyphoniC in the US)

Media Contact

True Blockhouse

@trueblockhouse.com

+447017077761

Source : True Blockhouse

See on IssueWire